

From John Guilfoyle, licensed Real Estate Agent

John Guilfoyle

Behind every successful business are the people who make it work. Real Estate can be a minefield, so getting the best advice on buying or selling wisely is a must.

Who am I?

I am the founder of Triton Properties and with ten years in the banking industry I gained valuable experience in property financing. With my Real Estate Agent's Licence, I began marketing broad acreage and house/land packages for major south east Queensland developers. I then established my own real estate agency, followed by an L.J. Hooker franchise, both of which gave me a good understanding of city and suburban real estate. I then began to purchase, develop and market rural acreage estates, and finally established Triton Properties - an internet property agency.

What does all this mean to you?

Triton Properties is independently owned and operated and not constrained by franchise area so we are able to deliver our services wherever you need us. Having an internet agency means we can keep expenses to a minimum, which means less expense for you. We can deliver a complete and individually-tailored service to each and every client without the huge overheads that influence how your property is sold.

What services does Triton Properties provide?
